

Demands Change In Laws

Nelson, Chairman WPB Declares Many States Laws Interfere With War Program

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, demanded of state government representatives today removal of non essential laws and regulations which hamper transportation or conservation of war materials.

Speaking to a conference of the state representatives called by President Roosevelt, the WPB head said, "We are repeatedly finding that our struggle to save these materials is being tripped up by some non-essential state or local ordinances which limit the ton and in building construction but all across the board."

Nelson said one of the principal problems was the confusion of state and local laws which limit the size, cargo and other features of commercial trucking.

He continued: "We have an acute shortage of paint brush bristles—and we keep running into local ordinances which limit the use of spray painting equipment. We want to conserve the material that is used to make flour sacks—and we can't simplify sack sizes effectively because of the conflicts in state laws governing those sizes."

Useless Laws
"Tin plate is of very great strategic importance — but just recently one state passed a law setting standard sizes for baking pans, the effect of which was to compel commercial bakers to buy a lot of new pans."

Saying that many of these laws were passed over a series of years for the selfish interests of particular businesses or labor groups, Nelson warned, "We can't win a war that way."

Speaking of the trucking regulations, Nelson said the "shortages of gas, rubber and repair parts are going to give our motor transport operators handicaps enough; the very least we can do is to make sure that no unnecessary handicaps are added. This is no time to hang on to the luxury of regulations which are aimed primarily at keeping the people of one state from hauling goods in another state."

Called For Licenses

He told how in Arkansas this spring workmen who tried to pool their cars for riding to work were stopped by state police who said they would need commercial carriers' licenses. He recalled another instance in which junk dealers were prohibited from promoting the salvage of used metals and other materials by laws preventing them from going from one county to another. In some states he said, farmers are prohibited from carrying goods on their homeward journey after carrying produce to market.

Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, who presided on behalf of the president, read a message from Mr. Roosevelt saying, in part:

Many Legal Obstacles
"Legal obstacles arising from a desire for regional and local advantage in a country so vast, with industry and interests so diverse, tend to defeat the requirements of free commerce and free enterprise among the states. Vexatious and disruptive in peace, in war they become dangerous."

"In recent months, as the nation has geared its economy to war, other state and local laws which in peace time were designed to meet local conditions, have because of their very rigidity imposed a heavy toll on national efforts to utilize our resources of land, man power and materials most effectively."

Missouri representation included Lloyd Miller, director of penal institutions; M. Stanley Ginn, the superintendent of the state highway patrol; Orville S. Traylor, the state labor commissioner and Frederick Steuck, chairman of the public service commission.

Uncle El

Whatever little quiet we have been enjoying recently must have been due to the silence of Mrs. Roosevelt. But now she seems to be making speeches again, and being just as glib as ever, what she has to say seems always to raise a din. We must remember, however, that she took a course in public speaking a few years ago, so I suppose she feels she has to keep on saying something or she won't realize on her investment.

Service Cross For Heroism

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—The war department announced today that the award of the Distinguished Service Cross to First Lieutenant Robert F. Augur of Portland, Ore., which was announced last week, was made for extraordinary heroism during a heavy artillery bombardment of the island fortresses of Manila bay.

A departmental communique said Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright, commanding in the Philippines, had sent the citation for the decoration, reporting that Augur had rescued several wounded men and extinguished some fires in the midst of a bombardment.

Several shells exploded near Augur's unit during particularly heavy shelling, the citation said, and Augur without hesitation dashed from his shelter, brought the wounded men to protected positions, and then went back to extinguish the fires.

"The unselfish courage of this terrific hazards resulted in saving intrepid officer in the face of the lives of several of his men," the citation said.

Supreme Court Refuses Filing Of An Opinion

Judge Gantt, Writer, Then Resigns As Presiding Judge

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 5.—(AP)—The Missouri supreme court rejected an opinion by Chief Justice Ernest S. Gantt as "scandalous, impertinent and scurrilous" today — and he promptly turned in his resignation as presiding judge.

It was the first time in history that the court had bluntly refused to let one of its members file an opinion.
The sharp words and actions — partly lifting the curtain on a bitter personal row that has been rumored in chambers for weeks — did not mean Gantt was resigning from the court. He merely offered to quit as chief justice, a post to which his fellow judges elected him last year.

He also tendered his resignation as presiding judge of the court's division one. He offered no explanation but the fact he acted minutes after the other judges rebuked his opinion made his reason clear.

Another opinion — an apparent attempt by Judge Ernest M. Tipton to answer the suppressed anti opinion — was expunged by the court with the same language to keep the "records free from scandalous and defamatory statements."

Contents Not Public
The contents of neither opinion was made public. It was the first time in years that judicial differences among the seven Democratic judges has brought such tense, personal feelings out of the conference rooms which cloak the court's deliberations in official secrecy.

The flareup came in a relatively minor phase of the endless litigation which grew out of Missouri's fire insurance rate cases — an offshoot of the same involved rate compromises which exposed T. J. Pendergast as a bribe-taker and sent him to federal prison as an income tax dodger three years ago.

Attempt To Dissent
The court ruled today that the Central Missouri Trust Co., of Jefferson City was not liable for the $289,789 which administrators had spent out of impounded insurance premiums on deposit in the bank. It was an attempt by Gantt to dissent from the ruling which brought the expulsion of his remarks and his subsequent offer to resign as chief justice.

Entered An Order
The court filed one dissent by Judge Charles Thomas Hays. But instead of filing Gantt's remarks it entered an order saying:

"It appears to the court that the separate dissenting opinion of Gantt, the separate opinion and answer thereto by Tipton, and the separate reply opinion of Gantt contain matter which is scandalous, impertinent and scurrilous, patently outside the record (Please Turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Representative Whitaker Dies

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 5.—(P)—State Rep. O. B. Whitaker, Hickory county Republican leader, died last night at his home in Weaubleau, Mo., friends here were notified today. They said heart disease caused his death.

Whitaker, 72 years old, was dean of the state house of representatives, in which he had served 11 terms since 1913.

Born in Weaubleau, July 20, 1869, Whitaker had been a college president, a banker and an author in addition to his long legislative career. Twice — in 1934 and 1936 — he was his party's nominee for congress. He was Republican floor leader of the house in 1923.

In the 1941 session he was an active leader against Lawrence McDaniel's legislative contest of Gov. Forrest C. Donnell's election.

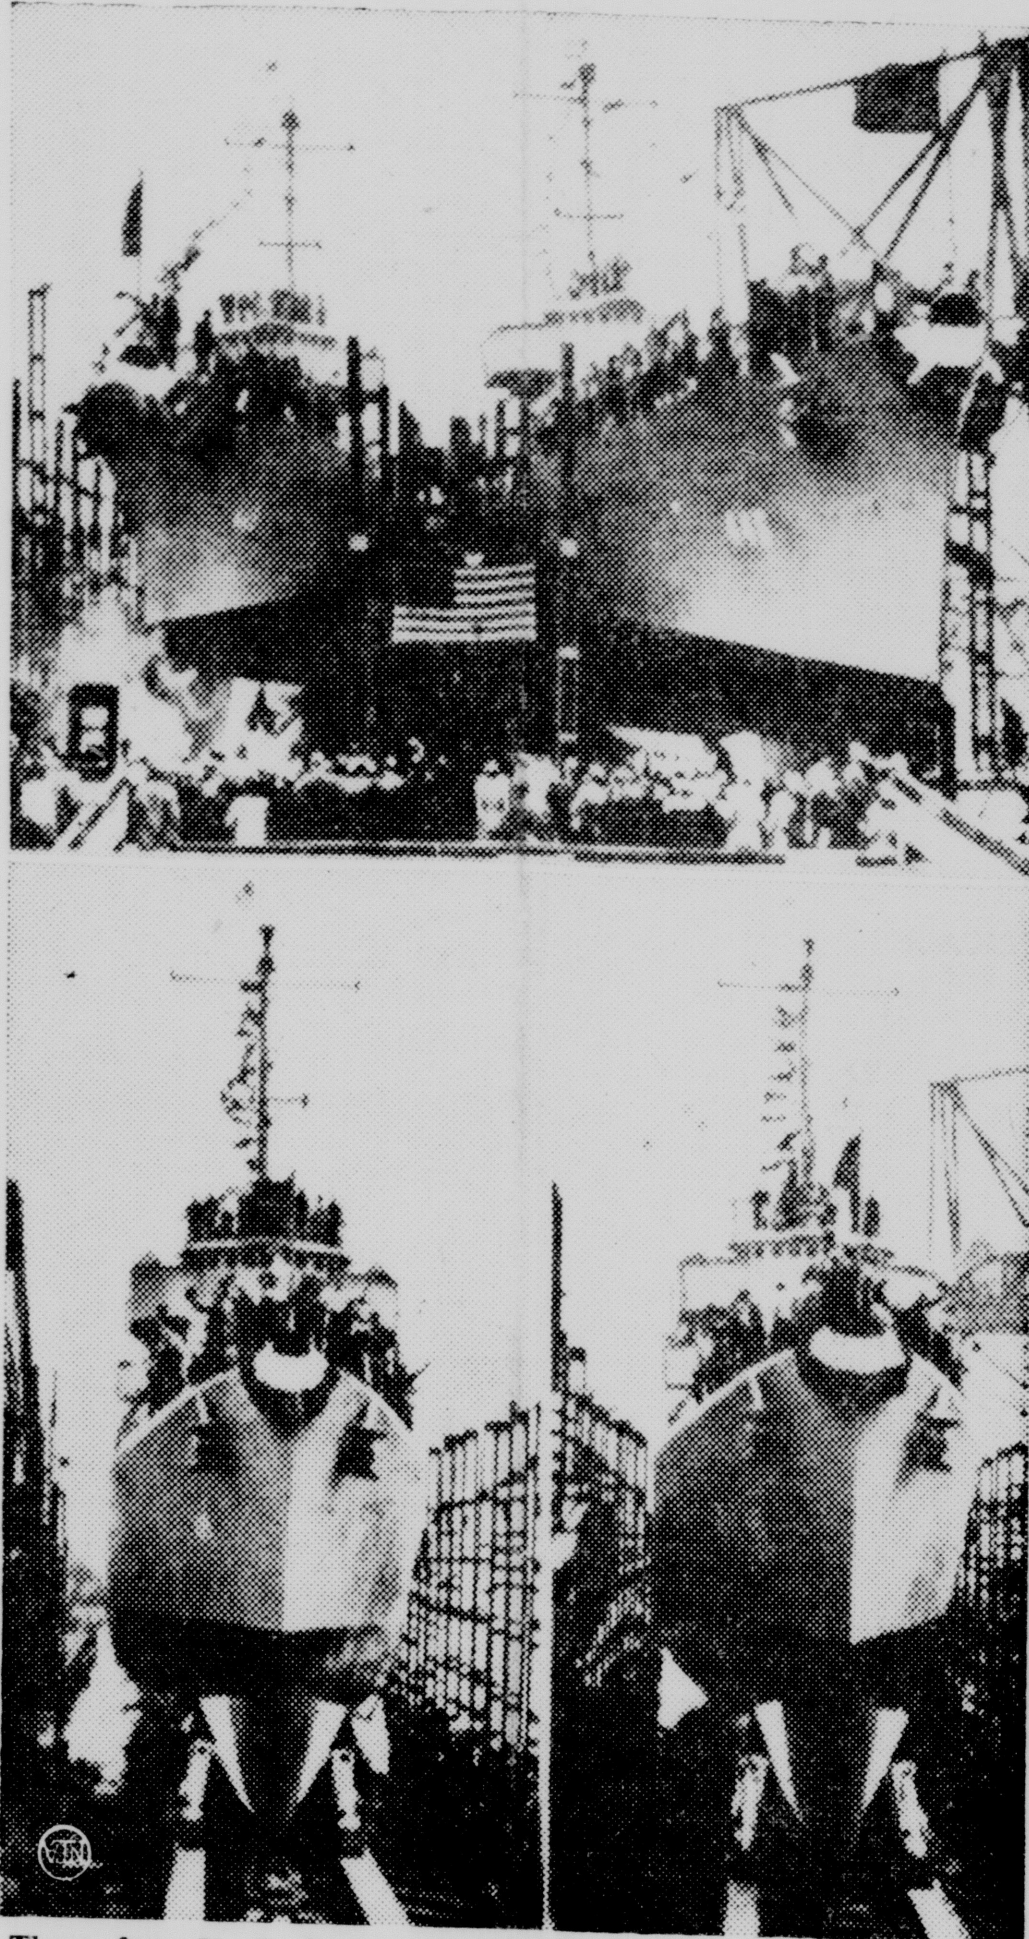

Whitaker married Annetta R. Boyles in Humansville, Mo., in 1893. The widow and three children survive.

Dentist's Widow Loses Law Suit

JEFFERSON CITY, May 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Bragg of Mexico lost in the supreme court today an attempt to collect $10,000 damages from two dental supply manufacturers in the death of her dentist husband, Minter K. Bragg, in June, 1937.

It was the second time the high court had ruled against her Bragg was found dead in his office June 16, 1937, with a gas inhalator attached to his face. Mrs. Bragg claimed he had been experimenting with the gas machine and that he was asphyxiated because the apparatus was faulty. The manufacturing companies claimed he failed to follow specific instructions for its operation.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 5.—(AP)—The supreme court refused today to say whether Joplin or Jasper county was responsible for the care of Joplin's poor.

The city and county asked the court for a declaratory judgment setting out the responsibilities of each in caring for needy families. But the court said the submitted facts "were not sufficiently developed to admit to a conclusive adjudication."

Dissatisfied With Hitler

German Generals Reported Telling Him He's Failure

By ROBERT BRANNELLE

LONDON, May 5.—(P)—A group of Adolf Hitler's generals headed by Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch was reported today to have told the fuhrer bluntly that if his 1942 campaign in Russia fails, they will try to institute for Germany an alternate plan of their own calling for "abolition of the Nazi system."

A responsible source with unusually reliable information about conditions inside Germany said Hitler has accepted this challenge calmly and appointed Von Brauchitsch a member of the supreme command.

Hitler relieved Von Brauchitsch as commander in chief last Dec. 21 and announced that he himself, relying on his "intuition," had assumed direct command of his armies.

Two Interpretations

The source said the incident might be interpreted in two ways:

1. That Hitler was confident of victory but needed the help of his former commander-in-chief and Von Brauchitsch's friends and hoped his appointment would win over critics; or

2. That he was beginning to recognize his weakness and was seeking compromises.

Von Brauchitsch was one of the strongest opponents of Hitler's plan for holding the forward positions in Russia through the winter and counseled a fall back from Moscow long before Hitler agreed.

Von Brauchitsch was said to have the confidence and backing of such important military leaders as Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, Col. Gen. Franz Halder and Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt, recently appointed commander of the German and occupied coasts of Europe.

Distrustful of Hitler's Plan

All three were reported distrustful of Hitler's "intuition" generalship and his extension of greater powers to the Gestapo, with which the army frequently has clashed.

There was no hint in the information reaching London whether the Von Brauchitsch clique threatened Hitler with displacement or promised him some kind of chancellorship in the new order they would institute if his plans failed, the source said.

The informant added that he believed the dissident generals might want to turn the campaign elsewhere, rather than to Russia, and to halt offensive warfare and

It was also suggested that all retail stores remain open until 9 o'clock Friday night to accommodate the regular Saturday shoppers.

Chinese Will Scorch Earth If Necessary

That Policy May Be Used To Destroy Part Of Burma Road

CHUNGKING, May 5.—(P)—Japanese troops invaded China's Yunnan province today after driving up the Burma Road and crossing the shallow Wanting river, 670 miles from this capital, a military spokesman said.

Bitter fighting is in progress in the area around the border town of Wanting, still in Chinese hands, the spokesman reported.

He declared that destruction of the Chinese section of the Burma Road, which winds through sheer mountains and gaping gorges, had not yet been necessary but that the Chinese would carry out their scorched earth policy if necessary.

(The Japanese claimed their air force already had carried the war far into Yunnan province with a heavy raid on Yungchang, about 100 miles inside the province where the Burma Road crosses the upper reaches of the great Mekong river. A dispatch to the Tokyo newspaper Asahi, indicating that an air base had been established there, said the raiders destroyed nine planes, seven of which were grounded. The dispatch said that the town had been left in flames.)

At China's Back Door

Thus in little less than two months, the Japanese invaders of Burma had driven 500 miles from Rangoon to China's back door. The great Burma port, which the Japanese have since utilized as its main supply base, fell March 8.

The advance to Wanting represented a 90-mile drive along the Burma supply road from Lashio, the railroad wrested from the outnumbered and outgunned Chinese army commanded by United States Lieut. General Joseph W. Stilwell.

The army spokesman described the Japanese force as "small." The vanguard, however, appeared to pose a distant threat to the Chinese capital of Chungking, some 670 miles away across high mountains and deep gorges.

Intent Upon Separation

The Japanese appeared intent upon severing communications between the Chinese of the left flank and the British of the right — at the wild mountain approaches to India, the spokesman said.

The enemy was expected to concentrate his main effort toward capturing the strategic north Burma town of Bhamo, some 170

State Loses To Bond Company

JEFFERSON CITY, May 5.—(AP)—The state today lost a court attempt to collect about $85,000 from the suretors of R. E. O'Malley while he was state insurance superintendent.

The suit claimed O'Malley's expenses were $85,000 to high for a period from November, 1936, to October, 1937, in which he administered the affairs of the Manufacturing Lumbermen's Underwriters company and asked that the sum be forfeited by his bonding company, the Central Surety and Insurance Corp.

The supreme court held, however, that the expenses were regular and that neither O'Malley or his bonding company should refund the sum.

Strike Delays FCA Office Construction

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—(P)—A strike by the electricians union (AFL) tied up construction of the Farm Credit Administration's new offices in the municipal auditorium today.

Pickets at the buildings said the strike was over a dispute about the installation of telephone equipment. Construction workers, however, refused to continue on the job until the dispute was settled.

The Farm Credit Administration is moving its offices here from Washington as part of the government's decentralization program.

Interest Centers On French Madagascar Invaded By British

The War News . . .

Streamlined

VICHY, France, May 5.—(AP)—Chief of Government Pierre Laval declared tonight he had received a note from President Roosevelt demanding that France not defend Madagascar against British attack, and that the Vichy government regarded this note as inadmissible.

Nevertheless, France under no circumstances will make the first move toward a rupture with the United States, Laval said.

Addressing a press conference, Laval declared in a husky voice:

"The French government leaves to President Roosevelt his part of the responsibility of the eventual consequences of this aggression."

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—A medium sized United Nations merchant vessel and a British merchantman have been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast, the navy announced today, and survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

VICHY, France, May 5.—The British landed on Madagascar this morning, preceded by waves of parachutists, after the governor had rejected an ultimatum with the reply, "We will defend ourselves to the very end," it was announced tonight.

The announcement was made by Paul Marion, secretary of state for information, in the presence of Pierre Laval, chief of government.

NEW DELHI, May 5.—(P)—Huge United States bombers drove through a heavy thunderstorm early today and attacked a major Japanese air base just north of Rangoon where 70 enemy aircraft had been sighted.

The great multi-motored crafts of Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's command dodged a concentration of searchlights and ground fire to drop 250-500-pound bombs which caused many fires and large explosions at Mingaladon air-drome, a communique said.

"Hangers and aircraft parked on the runway were observed burning," the account added.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 5.—(P)—Allied air forces again have smashed forcefully at Japanese island bases about Australia and beaten off another enemy raid on Port Moresby, a communique announced today.

It listed five Japanese planes as hit by allied fighters defending the United Nations New Guinea outpost against a raiding air squadron of nine heavy bombers escorted by ten zero naval fighters. Four of the hit raiders were bombers, the communique said, and the raid — aimed at an air-drome — was "without effect."

Bitter Fighting Reported Between French And English After Landings

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Bitter fighting was reported raging today on the north end of 1,000-mile-long French Madagascar, the world's fourth largest island as British seaborne forces attacked toward the Diego Suarez naval base after a surprise landing.

France's 86-year-old Chief of State Pétain and Admiral Darlan, anti-British chief of French armed forces, were reported to have sent a message to the commander in chief at Madagascar urging the troops to "resist attack and defend the honor of the French flag."

No Knowledge Of Japanese Units

There was no immediate indication whether Japanese naval units, the nearest axis striking force, were en route to dispute the British coup.

A Japanese armada of three battleships, five aircraft carriers, and flotillas of destroyers as well as cruisers was recently reported operating in the Bay of Bengal.

German dispatches said British naval and air forces first appeared off Diego Suarez yesterday and that Gov.-Gen. Armand Annet rejected a seven-hour ultimatum. The British attack then started.

British military quarters said the landing was executed about 3 a. m. British time (8 p. m. Monday, Central War Time).

London military quarters said the British, striking to forestall a threatened axis attempt to seize the strategic territory, had captured a French battery.

A German broadcast said there had been French casualties and that fighting continued more than 36 hours after British troops landed early yesterday at Courrier bay, 10 miles across the isthmus from Diego Suarez.

The broadcast said it was not known yet whether the British landing operations had succeeded, and added:

"The French government may be expected to react most sharply. . . . Its military effect probably will become manifest during the course of the day."

French Submarine Sunk

DNB, the German news agency, reported that a French submarine and a tender had been sunk at Madagascar resisting the British landing.

French reservists were said to have been called up, with orders to fight the British.

The island, 800 miles off the east coast of South Africa, commands allied sea lanes to the middle east, India and China.

A British war office communique said the landing force consisted of regular troops and a small contingent of "special service troops"—identified as commandos—and met little opposition.

"Our forces have landed at Courrier bay, covered by naval aircraft, with the intention of proceeding across the isthmus to the naval base at Liego Suarez," the British communique said.

"It is hoped that the French authorities will accept the offer of the United Nations to help in defense of the island against axis aggression."

U. S. Approves

A Washington statement last night declared the dawn landing was made with "the full approval and support of the government of the United States," and hinted at active American military aid against resistance, announcing:

"Any warlike act permitted by the French government against the government of Great Britain or the government of the United States would, of necessity, have to be regarded by the government of the United States as an attack upon the United Nations as a whole." The British declared bluntly that the coup was executed to prevent Japanese seizure of Madagascar, now that France's pro-axis Premier Pierre Laval directs the Vichy regime.

Tokyo Broadcast

A Tokyo broadcast commented angrily:

"The Madagascar occupation is a direct aggression against Vichy . . . and is bound to result in a further cooling of Vichy's relations with the United Nations and bring closer cooperation between Berlin and Italy."

The broadcast quoted "competent quarters" as asserting that "The latest action by the United Nations was made in an attempt

The Washington
Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON AND
ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, May 5, 1942—
Privately, administration leaders on Capitol Hill expect plenty of trouble enacting the two features of the present anti-inflation program that require legislation — the $25,000 income ceilings and reducing the 110 per cent farm parity figure. The leaders are acutely aware that a lot of congressmen and senators, loud in lip service to patriotism, will play petty, undercover politics on these two issues.

Toughest battle will be over the farm parity question, thanks to the powerful and well heeled farm lobby, one of the most potent and grabbliest in Washington.

Within a few hours after the release of the president's message, the farm lobby was actively "waging war" against it. Secret strategical pow-wows were called hurriedly.

Representative Clarence Cannon, chairman of the powerful appropriations committee, and a farm bloc leader, sounded the tocsin of battle on the house floor.

While the fighting in that chamber will be hot, the decisive struggle will take place in the senate, where the lobby has its chief strength. It was in the senate that the administration lost its fight to keep the 110 per cent parity figure out of the Price Control bill.
This defeat was what forced the president to tangle with the lobby again.

On the $25,000 income issue, congressional insiders anticipate a compromise. A private poll of the house ways and means committee several days ago showed a decisive majority against it. Most of the committee favored boosting the maximum to around $50,- 000. However, because only a relatively small number of people are affected by the $25,000 proposal, and this is a campaign year, Roosevelt may be able to bludgeon it through if he bears down strong enough.

Insiders predict that a lot of members will back him on the $25,000 income limit in order to cover their opposition to reducing the parity farm price level to 100 per cent.

Tourist Business Blow

Most people don't realize it, but the tourist business of the U. S. A. runs to several million dollars.
However, that business now is threatened with extinction. It's not only a matter of tires and gasoline, but the possibility that all non-essential private travel by rail may be banned.

Transportation Coordinator Eastman has warned that increasing pressure on railroads for movement of defense materials may necessitate this drastic step.

Surest way to avoid it, however, is to stagger vacation. Both government agencies and private industry should encourage workers to avoid the traditional holiday months of July and August. If everybody aims for a vacation in these two months, there will be no travel for anyone.

Soldier's Pay

The senate approved bill to increase the pay and allowances of men in the armed services ran into "chief" trouble in the house of representatives.

The house military affairs committee finally approved a pay rise bill last Friday, but until then there had been considerable delay in getting together with the naval affairs committee on certain amendments, relating chiefly to longevity bonuses for officers in the higher brackets.

Principal bottleneck was naval affairs chairman Carl Vinson of Georgia, who wanted to scrap the whole bill and write another.

"You fellows have the wrong approach," Vinson told the military committee at a recent closed door meeting. "We ought to eliminate this allowance business and gives the men in the armed forces flat pay increases, officers as well as privates. It's very simple. I could write a new bill in a few minutes on the back of an envelope."

Other committee members challenged the wisdom of beginning from scratch. They reminded Vinson that it took weeks of statistical study to perfect the senate bill, also that there might be a long delay in getting senate approval of an entirely new bill.

Finally, however, Vinson was given a week to produce a new bill. The next day he cockily re-appeared before the committee bill in hand. To everyone's amazement, it consisted mostly of the basic provisions of the senate bill, including the $21-to-$42-a-month pay hike for privates.

The only major difference was a proposal to give officers above the rank of second lieutenant and ensign a 10 per cent pay increase and to make the 20 per cent extra allowance for foreign service applicable to all men in the armed forces, whether they had served abroad or not.

This scheme ran into a storm of objections. A majority of the committee contended that men with foreign service deserved more pay than those without it, and that if it wasn't granted in this bill another would have to be passed.

"All right, all right," declared Vinson, after a long debate. "If this bill doesn't suit you, I'll write another."

Committee members groaned.
The Georgian already had wasted two days.

List Of Ones Giving Up Life

Carries Names Of 2,991 Killed In War To April 15

WASHINGTON, May 5—(P)—The names of 2,991 officers and men of the navy, marines and coast guard who gave their lives for their country in the first four months of war were made public Monday night by the navy department.

The lists, which were issued for publication on a regional basis only, except for nationally known figures, disclosed that California had suffered the heaviest losses among the states.

California home addresses were given for a total of 482 officers and men. Other states with more than 100 casualties among their residents in naval service were Texas, 162; New York, 148; Illinois, 142; Ohio, 123; Washington, 118; and Missouri, 115. Among these and virtually all other states there were some duplicate names, a man being listed twice if his official record showed, for instance, that his parents lived in one state and his wife in another.

Officers Are Listed
The name of Rear Admiral John Walter Wilcox, Jr., of Chevy Chase, Md., which had been omitted originally by error, was added to the list. Wilcox was lost overboard at sea during heavy weather early last month.

Others included on the list were Captain Franklin Van Valkenburgh of Long Beach, Calif., and Captain Mervyn S. Bennion of Salt Lake City, Utah, who died at Pearl Harbor, December 7, on the bridges of the battleships they commanded; Rear Admiral Isaac Campbell Kidd of Annapolis, Md., who was killed at Pearl Harbor aboard his flagship, and Lieutenant John M. Birmingham of New York City, captain of the destroyer Peary, which was bombed and sunk in harbor at Darwin, Australia.

Most of the 2,991 officers and men who made up the list of heroic dead lost their lives in action with the enemy, although some were killed in accidents at sea or in the air while on duty directly connected with wartime operations.

The list of dead is the first to be made public covering navy, marine and coast guard casualties for the period December 7—April 15. A list of 2,495 missing is expected to be given out shortly and a list of 907 wounded will follow that.

"Died That Rest Be Free"
LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(P)—Officers and men of the navy, marine corps and coast guard listed as dead in the navy's first casualty list of the war, "died that the rest of us can continue free," Secretary Knox said in a statement Monday night.

The secretary was here to speak in behalf of the navy relief campaign. His statement said:

"These men have paid the price which defense of liberty exacts. They died that the rest of us can continue free. They didn't 'lose' their lives—they 'gave' their lives in the finest way that men can die. The things for which they gave their all are worth dying for and worth living for and keeping for those who come after us."

"As secretary of the navy, I sympathize with those who loved ones have made the last great sacrifice; but I am proud of the way Americans have always faced such losses. These will be met in the same spirit."

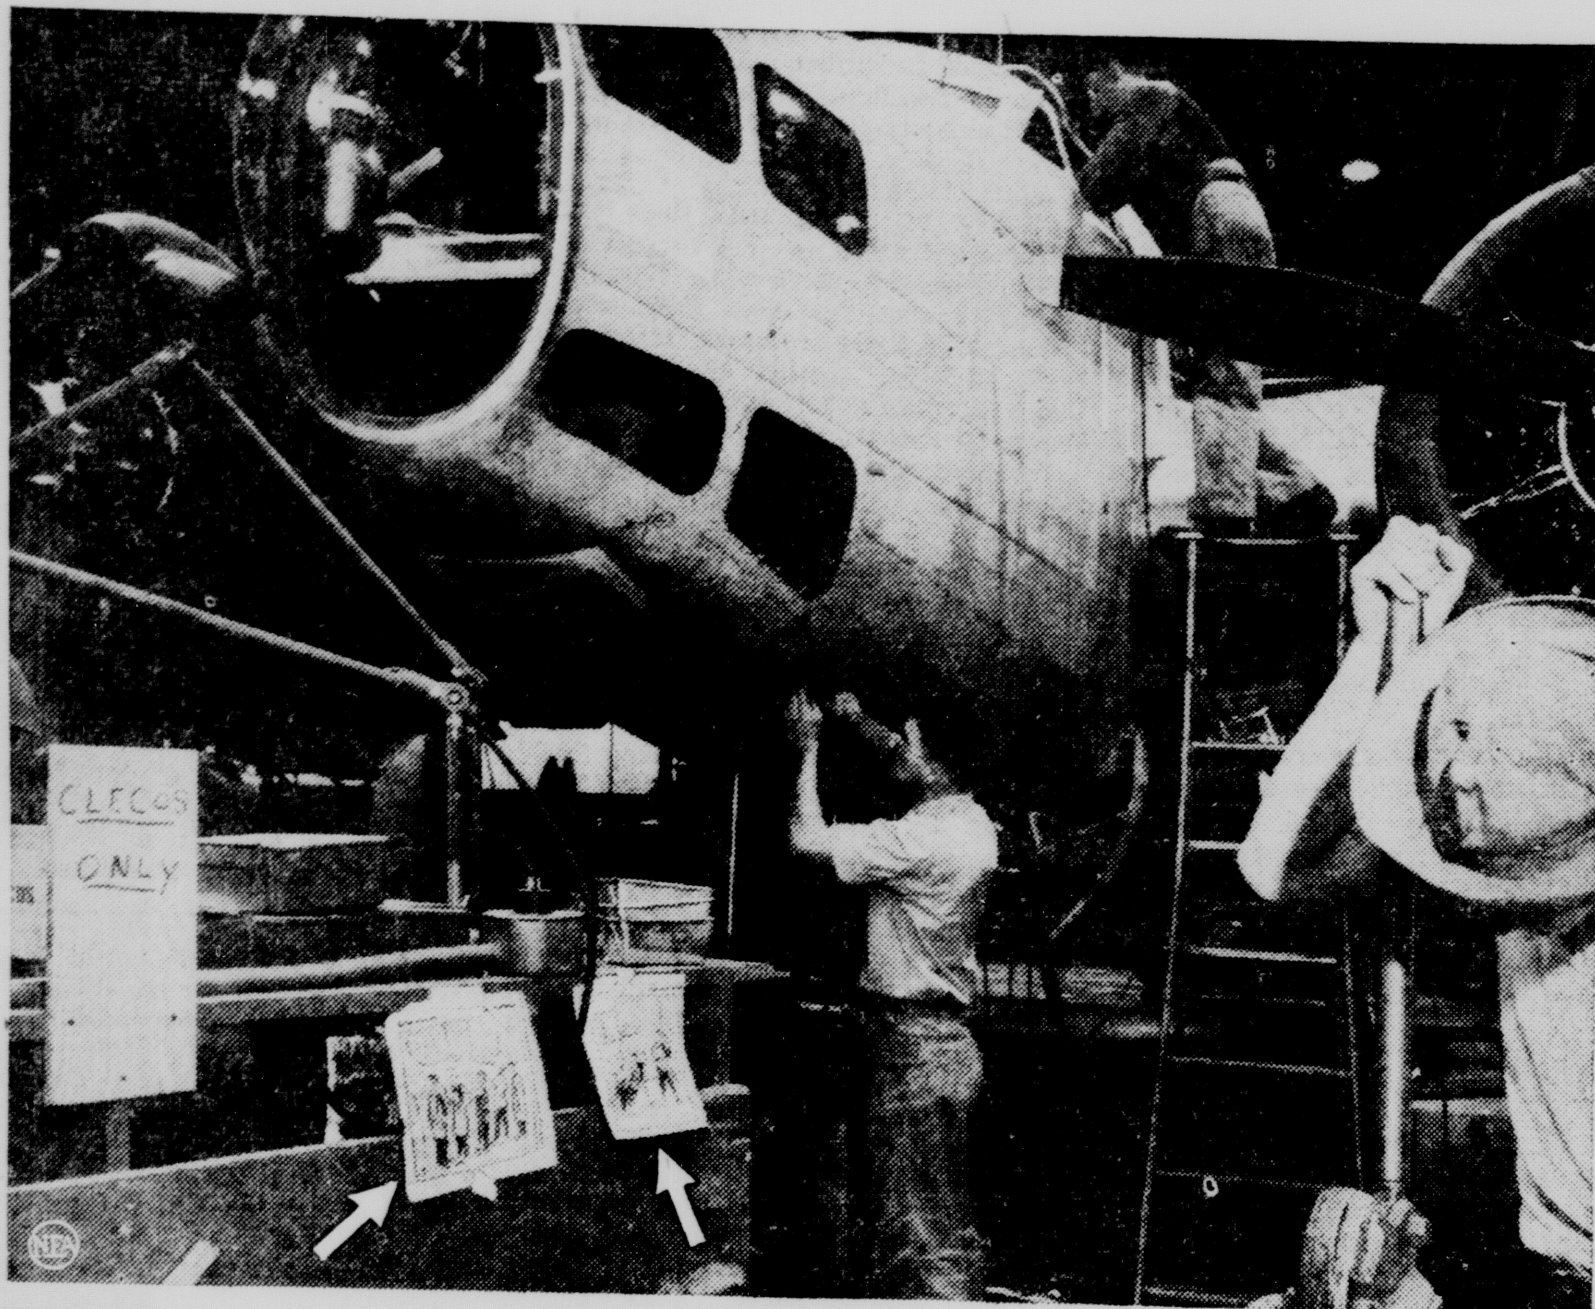

Sound System At High School

A new R. C. A. radio sound system will be installed throughout Smith-Cotton high school this summer, to facilitate communication to all classrooms in the future, school officials announced Monday.

The complete system also will reduce the expense of paper and stencils used in mimeographing bulletins daily for each classroom. The cost and installation of the outfit is expected to amount to about $1,800. $400 of this is being donated by the school student council from its intra-mural play receipts fund. Other organizations are planning special programs, the receipts from which will be given to the school for the sound system.

The system will be sufficiently large for its coverage to be expanded to any addition which might be constructed to the school building eventually. Loud speakers in each classroom will carry

U. S. Service Troops In Africa

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO, May 5—(P)—United States service troops in steadily increasing numbers are in positions supporting the main British desert army and air forces ranged against the threatening German African Corps of Marshal Erwin Rommel.

Major Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, commander of the North African mission, permitted disclosure of their presence from here for the first time Monday, although U. S. uniforms and huge trucks bearing the "U.S.A." letters have been in growing strength for several weeks.

One officer of the U. S. mission is Major Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, who started his military career as a captain in Ohio less than two years ago.

Gen. Maxwell emphasized that the soldiers stationed in this torrid area, barring the axis from conquest of Egypt and the Suez canal, were entirely service personnel—mechanics, technical experts, supply specialists and trainers.

Their job is to support combat troops of the British, Indians, South Africans, Free French and New Zealanders poised on the desert front 80 miles west of Tobruk in Mussolini's colony of Libya.

Coast Guard Makes River Trips Easier

Mark Twain Would Find Mississippi Trip Different Now

By KEN DAVIS
ST. LOUIS, May 5.—(Wide World)—Mississippi nights, Mark Twain wrote, brought the long stretches of inky, treacherous water with pilots fighting navigation dangers by experience and intuition.

The United States coast guard fixed that.

It placed 6,500 floating and fixed lights along the 7,000 miles of navigable American rivers.

In the words of Boatswain J. J. McSally, skipper of the Azalea, one of 10 coast guard boats patrolling the stream, The Mississippi is lighted up like 42nd street.

And the coast guard's work is paying dividends now that American rivermen are deep in their first wartime shipping season since 1918. More than a billion ton-miles of freight will move of the nation's inland waterways this year — protected from loss, delay or Hitler's submarines.

Its No Game

River piloting still isn't drop the handkerchief, however. You just can't shove a barge laden with a valuable cargo into the middle of the river and proceed in a straight line.

River channels, the deep water routes which allow passage of heavily loaded barges, are elusive things, wriggling in their river beds like huge serpents.

A bicyclist pumping zigzag up-hill knows how channels pick their ways, lying always with forbidding bedfellows: Shifting sandbars, rock reefs and mud banks.

Mark Twain's pilots ghosted among these hazards — on the printed page. Actually, they ran into more accidents, stopped frequently for soundings and pushed much less freight.

Steer Toward Middle

Just how do modern pilots steer their boats?

"See those red cone buoys?" asked McSally, as the Azalea puffed away from her berth. "Well, pilots steer toward the middle of the river from them."

The boat was moving upstream so the red buoys were on the right. The skipper pointed to cylindrical black buoys on the left. They marked the other side of the channel.

Up river a mile the channel cut across the stream from the right bank, which it had been following. A double line of buoys marked the crossing and the pilot turned the lumbering Azalea between the buoys, cutting back upstream when the buoys indicated the channel has turned that way.

Lights Showing Channel Shifts

In making the crossing at night, the little Irish boatsman explained, a pilot would line up a light on the right bank and a similar light far up the left bank — the river system of getting on the beam. Certain buoys also are lighted, indicating shifts of direction in the channel.

Looking much like the traditional showboats, the Azalea is typical of the coast guard river boats, or for that matter the hundreds of commercial towboats. The Azalea gets painted more often.

She's 27 years old, a two-deck stern-wheeler. Against the current she'll shudder along at a snappy four miles an hour — if the current isn't too strong. She pushes a steel barge loaded with equipment and carries a crew of 27 men and two officers.

Maintains Perfect Order

That crew, like others totaling 300 men on the Mississippi alone, works day in and day out maintaining perfect order in the navigation system. A young crew member, yearning for action, disgustedly described it as "the most peaceful wartime job in the world."

The crew replaces drifted buoys and repairs and renews lights. It sounds channels constantly, issuing bulletins so that commercial boats know always the location of the channel and its depth.

No longer do pilots charge into a seven foot channel, with barges loaded to draw nine feet of water. Mostly unloadings or delays are rarities.

Mark Twain actually wouldn't know his favorite river these days. Even the channel soundings, from which he took his pen name, have been modernized.

Guardsmen use the old fashioned weight and line — but they chant "Twin, mark twin" into a microphone. The pilot turns up an amplifying system.

Supreme Court Refuses Filing Of An Opinion

of the case. x x x

"The court acknowledges its duty to keep its files and records free from scandalous and defamatory statements neither pertinent to the case nor necessary to its decision."

A hint that other judges had tried to settle the dispute between Gantt and Tipton before it became public came from this paragraph in the order:

"The court hereby confirms the right of any member of the court to express himself by judicial opinion freely, frankly and without limitation within the issues of the case, and has earnestly requested and continues to request each of the members of this court about mentioned so to do."

Deals In Personalities

Judges Albert M. Clark, James M. Douglas, G. R. Ellison and C. A. Leedy, Jr., signed the order. Leedy said he did not regard Tipton's opinion as "scandalous or scurrilous, but is of the opinion it should be excluded because it deals in personalities."

The bank case involved insurance funds deposited with the Trust Co. by H. P. Lauf and L. H. Cook, Jefferson City lawyers who were custodians of the impounded premiums. When the Supreme Court ruled the men had no right to use any of the money, the state sued the bank for $289,789 which Lauf and Cook had withdrawn for administrative expenses.

Ellison And Douglas Serve

Today's opinion by Judge Clark said there was "no allegation or proof that the defendant trust company received or appropriated to its own use any part of the fund x x (and) x x is not liable" for the money spent by the custodians. Earlier opinions said the two custodians must restore all fees taken from the fund. The bank deposit already has been returned to the Insurance Department.

Judge Ellison today was elected to succeed Gantt as chief justice of the court in banc and Douglas was chosen presiding judge of division one.

allies are opening a second front, which, however, they will be unable to carry out because the allies lack men, shipping bottoms and materials."

Both Washington and London announcements made it clear that the occupation would not intentionally interfere with the French status of Madagascar and that the island would be "held in trust for France" against threatened axis aggression.

British Commandos Led Landing

British commandos led the landing on the small, mangrove-bordered shore of Courier bay, 10 miles across from the big Diego Suarez naval base, where the French cruisers Moncalm and Marsellaise and the submarine tender Jules Verne were reported to have arrived four days ago.

While the British expected little resistance, dispatches yesterday said Madagascar reservists were being called up.

A Japanese military mission was said to have been conferred recently with French authorities on the island, and Free French followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle were being rounded up and thrown into prison.

A German broadcast quoted Fernand De Brion, Vichy French representative in Paris, as saying that French troops in the island had received orders to oppose the British.

Improves Allies' Position

London diplomatic quarters hailed the coup as having "greatly improved" the allies' position in the Indian ocean, already brightened by the reported presence of the mighty hew U. S. battleships Washington and North Carolina in those waters.

These quarters said the attack signalled an end of allied attempts to coax Vichy away from German influence.

Circumstances suggested that the British beat Japan to the punch by a narrow margin, with Japanese Admirals Nomura and Abe recently active in Vichy amid indications that "yet further concessions by the Vichy government to the axis and, in particular, to Japan" were imminent.

miles north of devastated Mandalay, to seal off an alternate terminus of the Burma Road, the spokesman added. A column already is moving north from Mandalay along the Irrawaddy river.

Chinese troops far to the south of the main battlezones at Taunggyi have started guerrilla warfare, he said, tacitly acknowledging the collapse of a sustained drive against the Japanese rear.

Free China Still Unconquered

Unconquered after almost five years of invasion and determined even at the lowest ebb of her fortunes, to drive the Japanese out whatever the cost, Free China put in force a new mobilization law today to marshal all human and material resources of the country.

The new law became effective with the exhortation of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to the multitudes of Chinese firmly backing him to face still further adversity.

The law gives Chiang's government absolute control of all her vast manpower, water, materials and wealth, including prices and capital.

It came into force, as the generalissimo noted, on this anniversary of the assumption of Sun Yat-Sen of the presidency of the emergency Republican government in 1912.

Greater Preparation

"We must prepare for prolongation of the war and greater difficulties in the future," Chiang declared.

PGA Tourney Qualifying Tests Now On

Players From 28 Districts Will Compete May 25-31

BY HAROLD CLASSEN
NEW YORK, May 5.—(P)—Pro golfers are so happy their own private tourney, the annual PGA classic, didn't become a war victim that many showed their gratitude yesterday by hurrying through their qualifying tests four days ahead of schedule.

The golfers who make dollars and not dimes with their clubs had been told to congregate at 28 selected sites on May 8 to determine who would compete at Absecon, N. J., May 25 to 31. Exactly half the places got the job done yesterday.

Approximately 125 Entries
Approximately 100 play-for-pay golfers from the 28 sectionals will join 24 others who were excused because of membership on the Ryder Cup team or having won the PGA title previously.

Victor Ghezzi, one of Uncle Sam's soldiers, is the defending champion. He defeated Byron Nelson at Denver last summer in a match that went two extra holes.

"Of the players on the courses yesterday, Ernie Ball of Charlottesville, Va., made the most threatening gesture in Ghezzi's direction with a 139 on the Burning Tree course at Washington to take the day's medal honors. Ben Loving, playing at the Woodland Country club, Newton, Mass., and Rutt Coffey of Hagerstown, Md., shot 140.

Well Known Pros Ready
His two-under par hardly compared with the five-below of Harry Cooper, now of Minneapolis, but Light Horse Harry finished with a 141 in the Minnesota city.

Scores generally were high. Despite the numerous exemptions, known golfers dotted the qualifying lists.

Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist, Jimmy Thomson, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Sammy Byrd, ex-baseballer, made the grade at Philadelphia; Ky Laffoon, playing at Chicago, qualified for the tenth time; Al Watrous compiled a 143 for the Detroit medal; Tony Penna, Herman Kaiser and Rod Mundy advanced at Columbus, and Sam Parks, former open king, hit 146 at Pittsburgh.

Another Stable Mate Races At Preakness
BALTIMORE, May 5.—(P)—There's a striking parallel—reverse between Mrs. Payne Whitney's Preakness entry of Shut Out and Devil Diver and another pair of colts which made history in the race eight years ago, when a Kentucky Derby winner was beaten by his own stable mate.

This is not to predict that Shut Out, the Derby winner, will be whipped by his stable mate, Devil Diver, in the 52nd running of the $50,000-added Preakness Saturday but it is true that the Greentree stable connections still feel that Devil Diver is the better of the two.

Shut Out and Devil Diver are approaching the Preakness in a situation similar in some respects to that in which Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade and High Quest came to Pimlico back in 1934.

Cavalcade, regarded as the best horse in Mrs. Sloane's Brookmeade stable, had won the Derby easily from Discovery and Agrarian, while High Quest, winner of the Wood Memorial, had been kept out of the Kentucky classic and saved for the Preakness.

Heavy Tea Consumers
English uses 10 pounds of tea per capita annually in normal times. This is about one-half of the world production.

Lou Novikoff Makes Hit With The Fans

CHICAGO, May 5.—(P)—One of the few hits rookie Lou Novikoff has made this season has been a tremendously big one with Cub fans.

Maybe it's that monicker—the Mad Russian—that gets 'em. At any rate loquacious Lou has got the boys and girls about as giddy over him as they were over Dizzy Dean a few years back.

Some 20,000 of his public roared so loud and long for him Sunday that Manager Jim Wilson decided it was time to make him a regular or get out of town. Today he was placed in left field and listed fifth in the batting order.

The Russian's bat blazed a 363 for Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League in 1940 and the Cubs grabbed him pronto. He flopped in his early days as a Cub, was sent to Milwaukee and later recalled. He has stayed around 250 thus far.

"Chee, I did not know I was so liked," beamed Novikoff, "betcha I knock the hide right off that old apple now. Gonna try hard to do my best, I think."

Elbie Fletcher, Pirates — Singled winning run across in ninth inning against Braves.

Hush, Hush, The War Has Casey Stengel Silent
PITTSBURGH, May 5.—(P)—The war has put a muzzle on Casey Stengel. Always a fast man with a word—at least so far as opinions on the futures of baseball or his Boston Braves are concerned.

Casey's Braves have been a mild surprise in the National league to date in sticking fairly close to what the form sheets said was the upper crust teams. But will Casey talk about this pleasing situation? Here's his answer:

"How can I tell — how can anybody tell what's going to happen with this war going on?" He concedes the Braves look better than they did last year but beyond that the wise cracking Boston manager sayeth not.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, May 5.—Baseball received its "greenlight"; similar go-ahead signals have been given to other sports—such as yachting, for instance—and now Jack Joyner, the University of Tennessee sports publicist, suggests that intercollegiate sports should be granted some sign of official approval. . . . That might help the gate receipts a bit, but from here it hardly seems necessary. . . . The army and navy have given college athletes their okay by grabbing up so many of them for such jobs as flying fighter planes. . . . If that isn't enough, here's the word from an ex-sports writer now helping administer the navy's V-5 training program: "We know of no better way to make a good flier tough, self-confident, self-reliant and a fearless competitor than through competitive athletics supervised and directed by the best coaches and leaders in the business."

Today's Guest Star
Tommy Fitzgerald, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Wonder if Wayne Wright, after Saturday's ride on Shut Out, wouldn't rather be Wright than president?"

Churchill Downs Cleanup
Ben Jones, the same guy who put Eddie Arcaro up on two Derby winners, took him off the third. When Eddie couldn't decide between Shut Out and Devil Diver, he sought Ben's advice and Jones told him that Devil Diver was considered the better horse—

Quote, Unquote

Lieut. (J.G.) Paul (Bear) Bryant, U.S.N. (former Vanderbilt line coach): "I don't have any competition now when I start my sales talk. Used to be I'd have to try to out-talk a guy from another college when I went after a boy. It's different now. There's no Tennessee or Alabama, or Vanderbilt, or Mississippi State, or Auburn to compete with. I can tell the boys if they go with me they'll be playing on the best team in the world—Uncle Sam's team."

One-Minute Sports Page

When the Hollywood Victory Caravan drew a $78,000 gate at the Boston Garden last Friday, it busted the record of $72,000 which was established by a Strangler Lewis-Gus Sonnenberg wrestling match in the 1920's. . . . The army will take over the Detroit Fair Grounds May 15, but there'll be racing as usual for the 1942 season. . . . Pittsburgh baseball writers have passed a rule that everyone in the press box must buy a defense stamp each day.

Navy Style

If the matchmaker at your favorite fight club turns up some day in a uniform like a movie doorman's, you'll know he must have heard how they matched Ken Overlin and Fred Apostoli for a navy relief benefit fight at Norfolk June 26. . . . After Overlin had agreed, Apostoli was called into the office of the commander of the naval training station, where the high officials of the station were arranging the show. . . . Someone asked: "Would you be willing to meet Overlin?" . . . Freddie took one look at all the gold braid and merely asked: "When?"

Sports Mirror

By The Associated Press
Year Ago Today — Chicago Cubs sent infielder Billy Herman to Brooklyn for outfielder Johnny Gilbert, infielder Johnny Hudson and cash.

Three Years Ago — Joe Dimaggio, center fielder for the New York Yankees, quit hospital after seven day stay for leg injury.

Five Years Ago — Charles (Red) Ruffing, holdout pitcher for the New York Yankees, finally agreed to terms, accepting original offer of $15,000 minus $1,500 for the holdout period, the longest in Yankee history.

At The Fox

Scientific minded Professor Gary Cooper finds there's more to life than a stodgy old encyclopedia when night club entertainer, Barbara Stanwyck goes to work on him. It's a gorgeously funny scene from Samuel Goldwyn's grand new comedy hit "Ball of Fire," now playing at the Fox theatre in conjunction with "Buy Me That Town," starring Lloyd Nolan, Constance Moore and Albert Dekker.

Government Limits Use Of Iron And Steel

Manufacturing Plants Will Be Curtailed By Drastic Cut

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(AP)—The government ordered Monday a halt in the use of iron and steel in more than 400 classes of common civilian articles.

Thousands of manufacturing plants were commanded by the war production board to cease production on a long list of items containing iron and steel within 90 days. Limited production was permitted up to the deadline.

Included in the sweeping ban were bathtubs, mail boxes, fountain pens, pie plates, cash registers, cigarette lighters, house numbers, automobile accessories, theater marquees, fly traps, tool boxes, pleasure boats, mop wringers, and street light standards.

Manufacturers may not turn to any substitute metal "except gold or silver," WPB ruled in a clause designed to conserve war-vital copper, lead, brass, zinc and aluminum.

Materials To Win War Needs

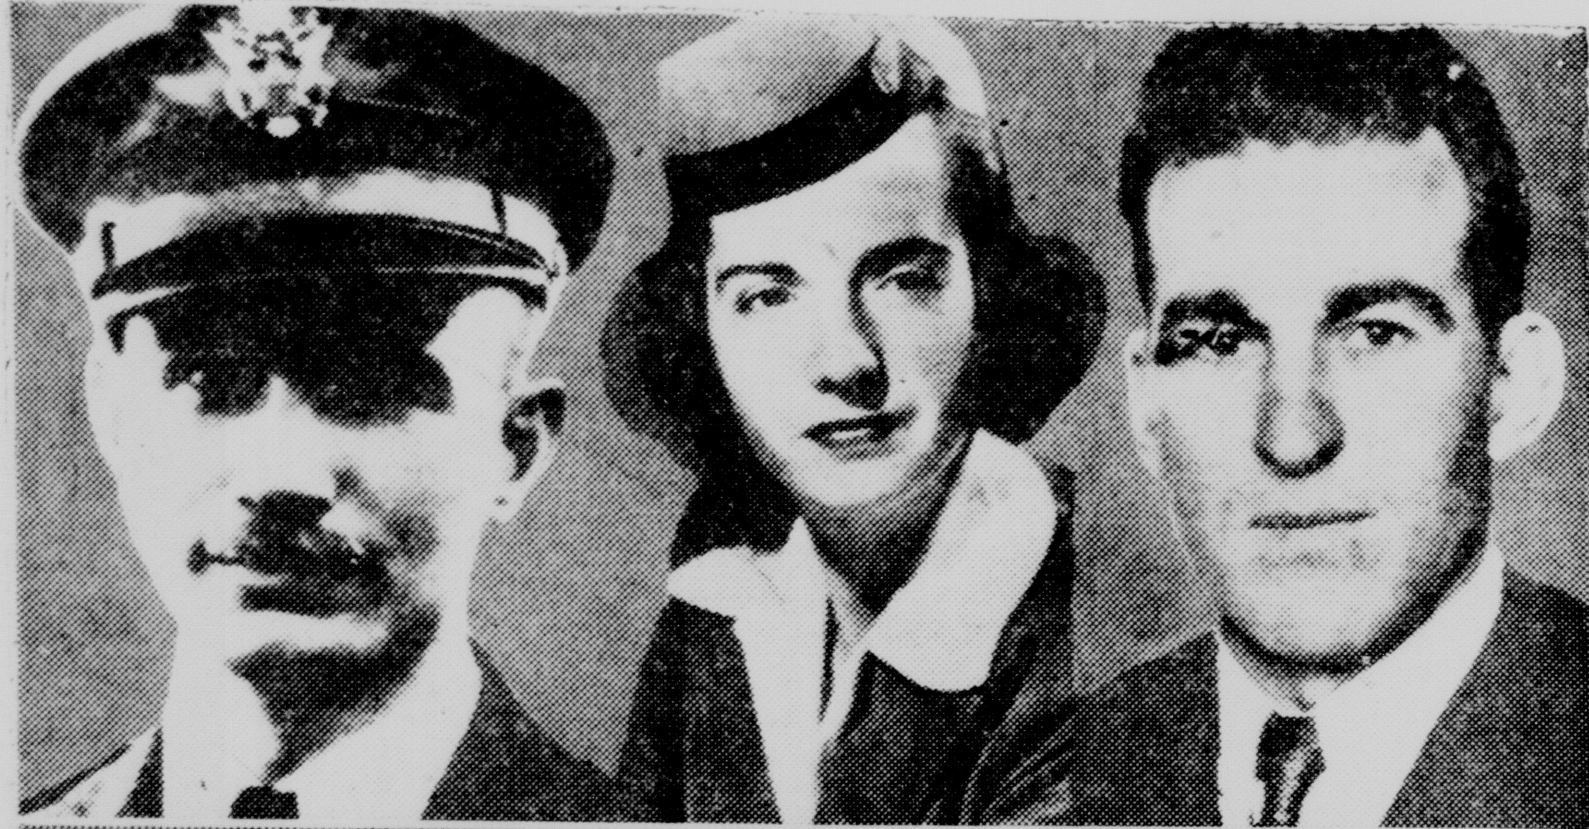

The long-awaited edict—most drastic conservation order so far issued—gave what amounted to a finishing blow to the country's durable consumers' goods industry, which WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson has ordered chocked off in order to convert materials, machines and manpower to war work.

Effective after midnight tonight, the decree climaxed a series of stop-orders covering automobiles, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, typewriters and other articles whose output was ordered suspended in the interest of a "sound but lean" civilian economy for the war's duration.

Even some items customarily used by the armed forces must go out of production after the 90-day deadline.

The order affects not only manufacturing plants, but wholesalers, distributors, retailers, and the consuming public, who are forbidden to receive articles known to have been made or delivered in violation of the order.

Salt Lake Death Trap Claims Another Airliner

Control From New York

Administration of the order will be in New York City instead of Washington, in line with WPB's policy of decentralization. Administrative offices already have been established there.

A new system of appeals was set up, providing that they should be filed with the field offices of WPB instead of the agency's Washington headquarters. Appeals addressed to Washington or made otherwise than on specially prescribed forms will not be considered, WPB said.

Manufacturers were given 15 days to deliver or accept delivery of iron and steel for the products listed. For 45 days they may process iron and steel up to an aggregate weight of 75 per cent of the average monthly weight of all metals used by each manufacturer in 1941.

This processing must be completed within the 45 days, and assembly of the items must be completed within the next 45 days.

Housewives and glamour girls alike will feel effects of the order when production ceases in a variety of beauty aids and kitchen equipment, and when existing stocks disappear from dealers' shelves.

On the banned list are toilet sets, compacts, jewelry boxes, cigarette cases and lighters, combs, permanent wave machines, hair curlers and dryers, jewelry, lipstick holders, manicure implements, perfume atomizers, and purse and handbag frames.

Kitchen articles appearing on the list include teapots, cutlery, biscuit boxes, bread racks, butter chips, butter knives, dinner bells, dishwashing machines, cake cutters, stainless steel kitchenware, and candy dishes.

Other household articles mentioned were beds and bed spring frames except for hospitals, awning frames, attic fans, bird cages, clothesline pulleys, coal chutes, door knockers and chimes, drain boards, drawer pulls, fire place equipment and screens, flower boxes, iron and steel furniture, grass shears, lawn sprinklers and laundry chutes.

Sporting and athletic goods generally were named, with the following items specifically mentioned: Roller and ice skates, ski racks, croquet sets, BB shot for air rifles, roller coasters and amusement park devices.

Reach To Business Office The business office will feel the pinch because of prohibitions affecting air-conditioning systems (except for hospital operating rooms and industrial plants), automatic pencils, cash registers and cash boxes, and various machinery for making change, cancelling checks, numbering checks, envelope handling, and stamping, and check writing.

The agriculturalist will have to do without iron and steel wheel barrows, work benches, chick feeders, cattle stanchions, fence posts, poultry incubator cabinets, and tanks for dipping, watering and feeding animals.

For the country club set to worry about were stop-orders on cocktail shakers, whiskey service sets, wine coolers, bottle holders, and other items.

Other prohibitions ranged from casket hardware to escalators to voting machines and parking meters.

About 140 of the articles are named on a supplementary list, and these may be processed and assembled on army, navy or maritime commission orders without restriction, for the time being.

At the end of the 90-day period even such military output must cease, but a third list now being prepared will name military articles to be exempted permanently from the stop-order.

Special restrictions were set up for roofing and siding, the output of which was restricted for the rest of this year to 20 per cent of the production of each manufacturer in 1940. In subsequent years 25 per cent output will be permitted.

Roofing and siding may be made for the army, navy, maritime commission and certain other federal agencies on high priority ratings, for defense housing, for the manufacture of freight cars, street cars, trucks or buses, or for maintenance and repair purposes on an unrestricted basis.

Changes Status The United States Coast Guard operates under the Treasury Department in peacetime, but automatically becomes a part of the Navy in war.

New Charge Filed On Welsh

Prosecutor Acts As Indictment Is Dismissed

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—(AP)—The state insisted Monday that G. W. Welsh, Jr., be tried for the butcher-slaying of his pretty 24-year old sister even though a county grand jury indictment, accusing him of the crime, was set aside because of prejudice.

County Prosecutor Michael O'Hern filed a new first degree murder charge against the black haired 28-year-old youth 30 minutes after Circuit Judge Emory H. Wright dismissed the indictment.

Welsh pleaded innocent to the new murder charge and his preliminary hearing was set for May 18. Eyes downcast, he reentered the county jail where he has been held without bond since his arrest Jan. 28.

Judge Wright held, in a voluminous decision, that the county grand jury had overstepped its authority and acted illegally in its investigation that led to the indictment. He held its actions were prejudiced.

He added, however, because of the gravity of the charge against Welsh that he should be held until the state could decide what action it would take. The new charge followed.

The body of Miss Welsh, a former University of Kansas City beauty queen, was found battered and mutilated in a bedroom at her home by her mother March 9, 1941—the morning after she had attended a police circus with a boy friend.

Her brother told police and the grand jury that he slept in a nearby front room the night of the brutal crime. The girl's mother, Mrs. Marie Welsh, testified she slept in another bedroom.

O'Hern explained that under the law he could not appeal the court's decision dismissing the indictment but that he could file a murder charge himself.

Attacked Indictment The validity of the indictment was attacked by the defense on the ground the jury acted both as judge and prosecutor, established its own private detective force, spent county funds illegally and that Attorney General Roy McKittrick intervened in the investigation illegally in that he had not been requested to do so by the governor.

Judge Wright said that interviewing of witnesses by jurors outside the jury room, the employment of detectives and the use of the county funds were violations of the law.

Referring to what went on in the jury room, Judge Wright wrote:

"While John L. McKee, a cousin of the murdered girl and the defendant, was in the jury room the foreman made utterly shocking accusations against the murdered girl and this defendant."

The jury foreman was Sheridan E. Farrell, now the only Pendergast-Shannon member of the city council.

O'Hern indicated he would not lean heavily upon the evidence produced by the grand jury.

"As far as I am concerned," he said, "the state will put on its case just as the police and the sheriff developed it."

He said he would ask McKittrick personally to assign an assistant in preparation of the trial. He added that some representative of the Attorney General was with the jury almost constantly while the case was investigated while his assistants were only "in and out" of the room.

Cease Issuing 'Social Justice'

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Social Justice, weekly magazine started by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, has ceased publication, its editor announced Monday but postmaster general proceeded to ban it from the mails anyway. Attorney General Biddle had charged it published "clearly seditious" material.

Editor E. Perrin Schwartz wrote Postmaster General Walker that the magazine would "not hereafter be published" and that it was abandoning its second-class mailing privileges. Father Coughlin telegraphed his approval of the action.

The publishers of Social Justice had been notified to appear today before a panel of three assistant postmasters general to show cause why it should not be excluded from the mails. Instead, they sent the notice that publication was being suspended.

Calvin W. Hassell, assistant solicitor of the postoffice department told the three examiners that since the United States entered the war Social Justice had preached a doctrine of defeatism and "substantially reproduced the enemy propaganda line."

Hearing the charges were Ambrose O'Connell, first assistant general; Smith W. Purdum, second assistant postmaster general, and Walter Myers, fourth assistant postmaster general. They recommended that Social Justice be barred from the mails and Walker acted immediately.

POUR GLENMORE... YOU GET MORE
GLENMORE DISTILLERIES CO., INCORPORATED • LOUISVILLE, KY.

Sure, every acre's raising more.... Now what's upping the mileage from this oil?

How does prize wheat or corn at the county fair get that way?

Sure, man-made soil improvers—modern synthetics—were added to improve on nature.

AND MODERN SYNTHETICS in Conoco Nth motor oil make it yield mileage that outscores all other brands tested in the sensational Death Valley Certified Competition. Five big-name quality brands got every fair chance against Conoco Nth oil. All were run till engines failed and none came closer than 58% of the mileage totaled by Conoco Nth!... the oil you can have for your needed Spring oil change that's now overdue... the oil whose best known man-made extra substance—at no extra premium—gives your engine OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING backs up the familiar fluid type of oil film with a surfacing of lubricant close-bonded to inner engine parts. Every cylinder wall, for instance, becomes a wall of OIL-PLATING that doesn't all drain dry during all the time you use Conoco Nth. Even after all-day parking, the OIL-PLATING is still up to the topmost piston rings, ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate. That's one plain way of foiling excess wear, and keeping up mileage with your engine OIL-PLATED.

But Conoco Nth oil also includes Thialkene inhibitor

...another synthetic... invented to inhibit or restrain the dangerous "jelling" of oil under excess strain. Engine heat and pressure can even gum up oil into something like fly-paper coating—only dirtier, and not much better for mileage. Against this threat, Thialkene inhibitor was created for Conoco Nth (U. S. Pat. 2,218,132). And Conoco Nth out-mileaged the others in the Death Valley Test—from 74% all the way up to 161%. You can get real optimistic about your own mileage. Conoco Nth will come through for you. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company
